

Dear Partners,

Greetings from São Paulo! We bring to you some quarterly updates from our university: application deadlines for undergraduate students and some great jobs that our teachers are doing with partners around the world. Also, we value your partnership and wish you a wonderful day!

Get to know us

NEWSLETTER

With more than 150 years of tradition, Mackenzie Presbyterian University (MPU) is one of the most respected higher education institutions in Brazil. Our campuses located in São Paulo, Campinas and Alphaville offer all the necessary structure required for the students to enjoy an excellent educational process, fostering professional skills, research methodology and citizenship.

 Exchange Students at MPU

Application Deadline - Second Semester 2024

It's time to start the plans for the Second semester in South America! Our deadline is May 20th to receive applications for the second semester (classes from August to December). More information here.

Language Support - Portuguese as a second language free course

Mackenzie Language Center (MLC) offers Portuguese language courses for all exchange students prior to their arrival (Online) and during their stay (In person), free of charge.

 What is new at MPU

Mackenzie offers subjects in English and Spanish in 2024

Mackenzie Presbyterian University (MPU), through the Coordination for International and Interinstitutional Cooperation (COI), offers the opportunity for their students to take subjects in English, whether they are regular, elective, or part of an integrative project, providing students the chance to practice the English language and become familiar with the specific terminology of their field.

Some subjects to be offered during the 1st semester of 2024 include: Artificial Intelligence, Introduction To Social Sciences, Semantics and Pragmatics in the English Language, Forensic Chemistry, Projects in Audiovisual, and more.

Find the complete list of subjects here

Mackenzie hosts lecture with USA expert

On August 18th, the Mackenzie Center for Advanced Studies in Public Policies and Integrity (Mack Integridade) hosted the first event in the Energy Transition Dialogues series. The initiative, themed “Energy Transition in the US: Policy, Regulation, and Stakeholders” was presented by David Loomis, Professor of Economics at the University of Illinois, United States.

During the lecture, David Loomis mentioned that only two regions in the United States are focused on offshore wind energy production. He drew a comparison with the northeastern region of Brazil, where an entire coastline is home to wind farms. As a result, there is a study being conducted on the possibility of decommissioning fossil energy platforms and converting them into bases for wind and hydrogen energy.

Find out about it here.

Mackenzie successfully concludes the first edition of the Study Abroad program

The Coordination for International and Interinstitutional Cooperation (COI) of Mackenzie Presbyterian University (MPU) concluded its short-term Study Abroad course on July 20th. The course was taught entirely in English for students from MPU and international students.

More information here.

Third International Week

Mackenzie Presbyterian University (MPU) held the 3rd International Week from August 14 to 18. This exciting event was dedicated to celebrating the institution's commitment to international collaboration and cultural diversity. Throughout the week, students and professors engaged in a variety of activities, including lectures, discussions, cultural exchanges, and networking. These activities were designed to create an atmosphere of global awareness and appreciation for international experiences.

More information here.

