Ementa
Study of the concept, typologies of occupation and the diversity of space appropriation in the city, considering its different scales, plans and projects.
Objetivos Conceituais				Objetivos Procedimentais e Habilidades				Objetivos Atitudinais e Valores
The main objective of this course is to analyze urban requalification projects. Throughout the course, we will focus on the following key topics: a) Understanding and addressing the significant challenges faced by 21st-century cities; b) Examining the territories of social vulnerability in Latin America and exploring the strategies and actions taken to address the rapid expansion of informal settlements; c) Studying the concept of social urbanism and its implications in urban planning and development.				Throughout the course, you will develop the ability to comprehend the intricacies involved in interventions within precarious areas of large cities. This will be achieved through readings and theoretical lectures that offer a comprehensive understanding of such complex urban spaces.				An essential aspect of this course is fostering a reflective attitude towards our current reality and cultivating critical judgment when it comes to urban spaces.
Conteúdo Programático
In this course, we will explore the following topics: • Contrasting Formal City and Informal Territories: We will examine the distinctions between the formal urban areas and the informal settlements found within the city; • Interventions in Informal Territories: The course will cover various approaches and strategies for intervening in underprivileged and informal areas of the city; • Social Urbanism: We will delve into the concept of social urbanism, understanding its principles and applications in urban planning and development.
Metodologia
Throughout the course, we will utilize a diverse range of learning methods, including lectures, text readings, seminars, surveying existing data, and proposing guidelines for intervention. These approaches will provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject matter and equip you with practical tools to formulate effective intervention strategies.
Avaliação
