

PRÓ-REITORIA DE PESQUISA E PÓS-GRADUAÇÃO
Coordenadoria de Programas de Pós-Graduação Stricto Sensu

PRINT-CAPES-UPM OPEN LESSONS

The Human Mobility and Cultures in Plural Project: the challenge of coexistence, in one of its aspects, the one most focused on the Linguistics and Literature Graduate Program, brings together researchers who focus on the role of Portuguese as a global and an international language, from the experiences in social contexts in which the Portuguese language, although it does not enjoy the status of official, has been projecting itself and being a focus of interest not only in the academic environment, but also in the economic and cultural context. Thus, following these researches, events such as Portuguese Language Week and Open Lessons were held.

As part of the activities related with the Master's and Doctor's degrees disciplines in the Linguistics and Literature Graduate Program at Universidade Presbiteriana Mackenzie, we had the participation of the Professors listed below, who taught classes with the following themes:

May 12

Discipline: Training and teaching practice in the area of Letters

Class topic: LITERATURE, A BRIDGE BETWEEN THE EU AND THE OTHER: TEACHING LITERATURE AND BRAZILIAN CULTURE IN ITALY

Profa. Dra. Vera Lúcia de Oliveira Maccherani, University of Perugia (Italy)

Profa. Dr. Francesca degli Atti - University of Lecce

May 14

Discipline: Societies and Languages: Cultural Interactions

LITERARY (RE) INVENTIONS IN LUSOPHONIA

Profa. Dra. Luisa Marinho Paolinelli, University of Madeira (Portugal)

May 14

Discipline: Text Constitution Procedures

BRAZILIAN LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES IN ITALIAN CONTEXT

Profa. Dr. Katia Chulata, University of Pescara (Italy)